Wharf Deck Will Be Poured Soon

Pouring of concrete slabs for the decking of the new $500,000 wharves on the inner harbor will be started within the next two weeks, according to Capt. J. W. B. Blackman, of the Pan-Pacific Piling and Construction company, in charge of construction.

Casting of concrete piles for the wharves was completed yesterday at the company's Richmond plant. The piles will be allowed to cure before they receive the special treating process which will make them impervious to the action of the salt water.

More piles will be delivered to the wharves from the company's corporation.

Construction is progressing at the rate of 40 piles per day, 715 units of piling having been completed yesterday.

Excavations for the decking forms have already started. Cutting off of the pilings to secure a level surface is also in progress. Blackman stated that work on the wharves is three weeks ahead of schedule and providing the weather permits, the same progress will be continued, Blackman stated.

The wharves are being constructed by the city of Richmond and the Parr-Richmond Terminal

CITY HOLDS ALL FIRE HONORS

Richmond scored the highest grade for low fire loss and preventative measures for any city in the United States and Canada, regardless of population, at the convention of International Fire Chiefs held in Philadelphia, according to Fire Chief W. F. Cooper who has returned from the convention and a tour of eastern cities.

Fire loss was only one of 13 items on which fire cities were graded. Number of alarms, number of false alarms, inspections and support of residents; officials and newspapers were among other items listed. Cities were first graded regardless of population.

Newark Second

Richmond secured a total of 82½ points. Newark, N. J., was second with 78 points and Seattle was third with 77 points.

After the cities were graded, they were classed according to population. Three cups were awarded, one to cities of 10,000 or less, the second for cities from 10,000 to 100,000 and the third for cities over 100,000 population.

A letter of congratulation, was received by Chief Cooper yesterday from the National Board of Fire Underwriters congratulating Richmond on its low fire loss and containing a check of $75 for the firemen's relief fund.

At the Pacific Coast Fire Chief's convention held in Sacramento prior to the Philadelphia convention, two cups were awarded on the same basis. One was for cities under 50,000 population which was won by Richmond and the other was for cities over 50,000.

En route to the Philadelphia convention, Chief Cooper inspected the fire departments of Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, Chicago, Washington D. C., New York, Buffalo and Philadelphia. In Chicago, he was taken through the laboratories of the fire underwriters and shown their methods of conducting tests.

VISITOR RETURNS

Mrs. W. R. Hart, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. E. Wallin, 663 Sixth street, left yesterday for her home in Susanville after a short visit here.

QUIZ MONDAY IN FATAL CRASH

An inquest into the automobile tragedy Friday night that resulted in the death of five women and one man will be held tomorrow night in the offices of Coroner Aubrey Wilson. Investigations are being conducted by Coroner Wilson and the sheriff's office in Martinez.

The car which plunged over the steep embankment at the Torrey curve, carrying the occupants to their death, was yesterday practically destroyed by a fire. Small boys told Traffic Officer M. L. Barbee, who investigated a report received by the sheriff's office, that they had seen a man toss a lighted match into the wreckage igniting the gasoline.

Funder Probe

The sheriff's office is seeking to learn whether the car was burned intentionally and if so what was the motive.

The bodies of Mrs. Minnie Griffin and her daughter, Viola Griffin, were removed to the undertaking parlors of Shur and Welbitt in San Francisco yesterday, and Hussein's remains have been removed to the Hull chapel in Berkeley. Pending word from relatives, the bodies of Mrs. Margaret Newman, her daughter, Ada May Newman and Mrs. Pearl E. Clark are at the Wilson and Kratzler chapel.

Sideswipes Auto

Howard Sweet, Crockett butcher, who was a witness to the accident, stated that his car was sideswiped by the machine as it rounded the Torrey curve at a high rate of speed. Sweet's car was whirled completely around and narrowly missed rolling over the bank also.

The man and six women were on their way to an Eastern Star celebration in Vallejo, at the time of the accident.

FARM AID PROMISED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover promised today, if elected, to call an extra session of congress after next March 4 to take up farm relief legislation, unless remedial measures are enacted at the short session beginning in December. Short session action is considered practically beyond the realm of probability.

In the announcement of his intention, the republican candidate went beyond farm relief, pointing out there are other problems requiring solution. This was interpreted as meaning that, if elected he plans to offer a concrete program of legislation at the outset of his administration as Woodrow Wilson did when he took office.

Hoover's farm relief announcement was taken as a move to offset the reflection of Senator Norris of Nebraska, as well as to combat the democratic presidential candidate's declaration for the McNary-Haugen bill principle.

Senator Borah of Idaho is credited with this last minute strategy to win the farm vote. The Idaho senator discussed the matter with Hoover after his return from a southern campaign tour, and last night issued a statement urging an extra session.

Dial Phones Put Into Use

Promptly at midnight last night, 19,000 telephones in Oakland, Elmhurst and San Leandro were transferred to the dial system. About two minutes were required before the change was made, but back of the cutter were two years' hard work.

Elmhurst and San Leandro exchanges have been discontinued and the use of the Sweetwood and Trinidad prefixes substituted for them. The new Glencourt exchange will serve all former Pekin and Glencourt subscribers and a

NEAR PANIC AS FUMES ESCAPE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 27.—(U.P.)—Chlorine gas escaping from a tank in the engineers' office of the Jefferson county courthouse overcame between 30 and 40 persons in the building at noon today.

Condition of the victims of the fumes was not believed serious from early reports at hospitals. Only one person remained in a hospital by mid-afternoon, the others being released after emergency treatment.

Three score workers in the building were removed from the range of the fumes by firemen, several of whom were overcome in the task.

Elevator operators in the courthouse were the first to slump unconscious, trapping employees in the upper floors. Many of them were taken down aerial ladders as the stairways became avenues of escape only for the dangerous gas.

Danger from the leaking tank finally was ended when W. B. Hamlin, assistant fire chief, and two others, went into the gas filled rooms with masks and pulled the tank out into an alley where water was poured on it to absorb the fumes.

Word of the leak caused a near panic in the vicinity of the building, situated in the downtown district of Birmingham.

MARRIAGE OF BOY ANNULLED

OAKLAND, Oct. 27.—Sensational charges made in the Superior court here today has led to the granting of a writ annulling the marriage of H. E. Mann, 19, of Albany to a 17 year old Alameda girl, Bernice Smith.

Mann declared that his marriage in Martinez that gave his name to an unborn baby, of which he was not the father, was forced by threats of arrest and banishing or a gun in his face by a man who represented himself as a deputy sheriff.

An affidavit, signed by the girl's mother admitting that the youth was not the father of the child, was presented in court.

The annulment action was started by Mrs. Dora Mann, mother of the boy.

CHICAGO GANG LEADER SLAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(U.P.)—While the rest of the country was becoming feverish over the presidential elections today, the Sicilian gangsters of Chicago's west side staged another one of their periodic "primaries" and definitely eliminated Peter Rizzuto, the Alieo clan's candidate to succeed Tony Lombardo.

Tony was slain by gunmen during an evening rush hour in the loop recently, leaving vacant his throne as ruler of the west side alcohol manufacturers and distributors. Rizzuto was nominated to succeed him.

OHIO VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jacobs and Mrs. A. Marlin are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunning, 706 Chaslor avenue. The party drove across the country from Ohio to this city.

Hoover, Smith Face Real Test As Vote Nears

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 27.—(U.P.)—Both parties are now about to face the real test of the most intense campaign in many years.

Governor Alfred E. Smith is throwing himself with full force into the battle in the big eastern states, some of which he must carry to have a chance of election. Herbert Hoover, after one of the most conservative speaking campaigns in the history of the republican party, is turning his face westward and soon will be on his trip across the continent to California to cast his vote. His trip will be interrupted with speeches at St. Louis and some other points designed to do him the most good. Both parties will reinforce the efforts of their two candidates with the stump work of hundreds of lesser speakers.

Next ten days is to arrange for manning the polls and supervising the count of the ballots. This is the real work which was or loses elections. While the importance of Senator Norris' declaring for Governor Smith is not to be underestimated, and the effect of the tour of Charles E. Hughes may be felt in some sections, the real effective activity from now on will be unexciting tedious labor of party leaders arranging for workers to be out at 6 a. m. on election day, to have their automobiles at certain places, to have lists of telephones of friends.

Counting Polls

But the big job ahead in the

Gael's Beat Nevada In Final Quarter

RENO, Nev., Oct. 27.—After fighting the St. Mary's eleven to a standstill for three periods the University of Nevada weakened in the last quarter here today and the Gaels won by the score of 23 to 0.

When the last period started the Wolf's pack held the powerful St. Marys eleven to a lone safety made a short time after the opening kick-off but in the final minutes of the game the Gaels unleashed an aerial attack that baffled Nevada and resulted in three touchdowns in rapid fire order.

Kasper, McCaffery and Patterson scored the touchdowns, two on passes and the third after a long pass had placed the ball on Nevada's one yard line.

Richmond Burglar's Probation Revoked

MARTINEZ, Oct. 27.—Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie today revoked probation of two years granted to George Norton, 19, on a burglary charge. Norton will face the court Wednesday to hear his sentence.

Norton pleaded guilty several months ago to a charge of looting a Richmond tailor shop. He was given two year's probation on that charge.

Recently Norton was brought here from Oakland after officers had arrested him on a charge of vagrancy. They discovered him loitering near an automobile on which tire lugs had been loosened.

Oakland, Alameda Linked By New Tube

OAKLAND, Oct. 27.—Oakland and Alameda today joined hands in the dedication of the George A. Posey tube, linking Alameda with Oakland.

At 2:30 this afternoon a delegation from the Oakland side, headed by Mayor John L. Davies met a delegation from Alameda headed by Mayor Frank Otis at the exact center of the tube. There Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee, of the Temple Sinai, Oakland delivered the invocation.

Dorothy Posey, 13, daughter of County Engineer Geo. A. Posey, builder of the structure, cut a ribbon stretched across the subway.

The tube was built at a cost of $450,000 and has been under construction for over a year. It opens a new route from Oakland to Alameda, directly under the estuary. A legal entanglement have caused a delay in the opening of the tube to the general public.

310 Auto Drivers Tagged For Lights

Richmond traffic officers tagged 310 motorists here during the light tests conducted during the past two weeks. Several of the tests were conducted with the cooperation of the El Cerrito police department.

Of the number tagged, 283 were for driving with illegal lenses or driving with lights not properly focused; 22 were for driving with no tail light or one headlight and one was arrested for driving with no lights at all. Those tagged for illegal lenses or not properly adjusted lights, are given 48 hours in which to appear at the police station with a certificate showing that the lights have been adjusted. A majority of those motorists have appeared at the station.

Dependability, Satisfaction and Honest Value

Loose Patches Bad In Balloon Tires

A loose blowout patch should never be left in balloon tire casings. Changing will result due to low air pressure, according to the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association, which advises having the tire vulcanized as soon as possible.

The Saginaw Plastics Company, the plant was taken over in its entirety by the Chevrolet Motor company during its great expansion campaign in the fall of 1927. Prior to that time it had been a branch of the Buick division of the Chevrolet cylinder head blocks and castings.

The present foundry has set a remarkable record of efficiency in the automotive industry. It has shown an output almost the equal of foundries with three and four times the floor space and double the number of men employed in them. The new foundry will introduce several radical labor-saving devices.

High Speed Big Strain On Cars

Strain on an automobile grows in geometrical progression as the speed grows in arithmetical progression, according to Louis C. Shaw, general service manager of the National Automobile club. That is to say, explains Shaw, the strain of driving a car at forty miles an hour is four times greater than the strain on the car driven at twenty miles an hour, and at eighty miles an hour the strain is sixteen times as great as at a twenty mile speed.

Don't Fill Oil Case Too High

The crankcase on your car should not be filled with oil above the recommended level, according to the California State Automobile association. Too much oil causes excessive smoke, increases carbon and causes loss of power.

Transcontinental Road Ready Soon

Thirty-two miles of the Arrow head trail, in Utah, north from the Arizona line, is now under construction, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club. By next spring, a smooth, speed limit highway will extend from Salt Lake City to the southern boundary of the state.

Causes Of Burned Bearings Indicated

A burned out bearing on your car may be caused by insufficient oil, clogging of the oil line of a worn oil pump. To avoid additional repairs, the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association advises having the oiling system cleaned and checked when a bearing has burned out.

Law Violations Cited As Cause Of Car Crashes

Six violations of the law are credited with being the most common causes of automobile accidents. The official report of New York state, which the California State Automobile association cites as typical, shows the following: 42 percent; on wrong side of road; 16 percent; exceeding speed limit 13 percent; failed to signal a percent; cutting in, 6 percent; other violations, 7 percent.

If there is trouble with the car into gear with the clutch running and the clutch disengaged let the clutch in again and make a new try, advises the service department of the National Automobile Club.

Another huge addition to Chevrolet manufacturing facilities will be completed by the 1st of December, according to advices received by officials of the Golden Rule Chevrolet Co., Richmond, Mich., a structure which will add over 200,000 square feet to the foundry facilities of Chevrolet at Saginaw, Mich., is under construction now, and it is expected that foundrymen will be actively at work within its walls by the 1st of December.

GRACEFUL ORIGINAL LINES ON NEW OAKLAND MODELS DISPLAYED BY J. P. STROM

Completely new and original in appearance, with a host of advanced engineering features, the latest Oakland All-American Six went on display here today at the showrooms of J. P. Strom, 1221-1223 Macdonald avenue, Oakland and Pontiac dealer.

Smarter, roomier than a year ago, with bodies of distinctive design, and a chassis said to be the last word in mechanical refinement, the latest All-American model bears only a passing resemblance to its famous predecessor—the first All-American six brought out by the Oakland Motor Car Company a year ago.

New Features
Briefly, the new line offers a bigger, faster, more powerful engine; new Oakland type internal expanding four wheel brakes; and masterful body creations by Fisher, new Duce color combinations, higher larger cross flow radiator with grill front; adjustable driver's seat, chrome plated lampes, new design sturdy ten-spoke wheels; Lovejoy shock absorbers and spring covers as standard equipment; new steering gear, guarder frame, and a host of other improvements that are designed to make the car a distinguished addition to the family of American motor cars.

Many months have been spent in developing the car to a point where it offers everything that a discriminating public has learned to expect in the way of style and performance. Every detail has been subjected to exhaustive tests to insure that the car might represent the crowning achievement of 22 years of successful automobile building by the Oakland Motor Car company.

Pooled Resources
Into the perfection of power plant and body lines have gone the pooled resources of Oakland and General Motors engineers, General Motors Research Laboratories, General Motors Proving Ground, and craftsmen of the Fisher Body organization. Many months have been spent developing every detail of the new line, every finished product up to rigid standards called for on the specification charts.

Already a million miles have been piled up by the test cars on the General Motors Proving Ground. Although brand new to the public, it is a thoroughly seasoned product with the equivalent of many years of owner service already to its credit.

Seven passenger types comprise the line: sport roadster, sport sedan, coupe, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, and a new landaulet sedan and convertible roadster.

New Body Grace
Artisans of the Fisher organization with Oakland engineers have achieved a new degree of line and symmetry and proportion exclusive in the Oakland field. The new landaulet sedan, with its fabric covered rear quarter section which may be quickly raised or lowered, has an air of custom-built distinction.

The rear seats of all five passenger models are two inches wider this year to provide increased elbow room and to add to the comfort of passengers. The change has been effected without increasing the tread.

Closed routes all have adjustable driver's seats, reveals around side windows set off by a narrow head, single belt moulding starting at radiator and completely encircling the body, smart side cow ventilators, new type auxiliary sun visors, and hardware designed exclusively for Oakland.

On individual body types are walnut finished door panels, Ambassador carpet in tonneau, embossed leather smoking seats, package space, luggage room in rear deck and many other popular features adding to the luxury of the interior.

A new instrument panel finished in black imparts a dignified touch to the front interior. Instruments are individually mounted on the dash and directly illuminated by two independent lights. On the dash are an speedometer, gasoline gauge, oil gauge and ammeter mounted on a raised panel on the right side of the board. On either side are the ignition lock and lighting switch button, and the choke and throttle control buttons. The windshield wiper control and light switch buttons are below the speedometer. All instrument dials are black with white figures.

A strikingly new outside appearance is provided by the head-on view of the car. The chrome plated radiator has been raised so that the line from the base of the cowl to the new flat radiator cap appears practically level. The shell is high and narrow with an unbroken curve line.

A new grill, or radiator front cover effect, is of chevron design with a vertical chrome plate bar extending the full height of the front in the center of the grill.

NEW EMBLEM
The Oakland emblem has been redesigned this year in the form of a shield, red, white, and blue, naming bear out the All-American motif. The famous Oakland-pioneered cross flow radiator is retained with the cooling capacity increased.

Flanking the radiator are new full crown fenders, larger and wider than a year ago, of seamless one-piece design with a beaded edge and a 7 1/2 inch spread. Rear fender ends have been extended lower than the hub cap to assure increased protection and added beauty.

The newly fashioned hood has a chrome plated top hinge and vertical louvers in five groups of four each on either side to achieve a swager air. Parking lamps are mounted on a chrome plated cow.

Tire Size Unchanged
Small diameter wood wheels are standard equipment on all models. The new line features eight-inch diameters and large caps stamped with the new Oakland shield of a picture in line with the current mode. Tire size remains at 28 by 5.50, over size for Oakland.

A powerful new engine, offering flashing performance at very speed range, has been achieved by stepping up the cylinder displacement to 228 cubic inches as against 212 in the earlier model. This, in conjunction with other engine changes, results in a top speed of well over 70 miles an hour and quick acceleration of from ten to 25 miles an hour in high gear in six seconds flat.

Increased displacement was brought about by enlarging the cylinder bore from 3 1/4 inches to 3 3/8 inches. The improved engine develops 48 brake horsepower at 2400 rpm.

Rubber "Biscuits"
A new and exclusive Oakland feature is the four-point rubber engine mounting adopted on this model. By means of special rubber "biscuits" which insulate the engine from the frame, there is no metal-to-metal contact, a feature which eliminates noise and engine vibration.

Other features contributing to better performance are a permanent mold type semi-rigid piston containing lightweight with long wear; an improved oiling system to assure better lubrication of cylinder walls, piston and pins; larger oil pump which circulates 200 gallons of oil every 60 minutes at 25 miles an hour; larger carburetor and manifold; more rigidly supported transmission housing; and latest improved V-type cleaner consisting of a chamber filled with copper shavings dipped in oil.

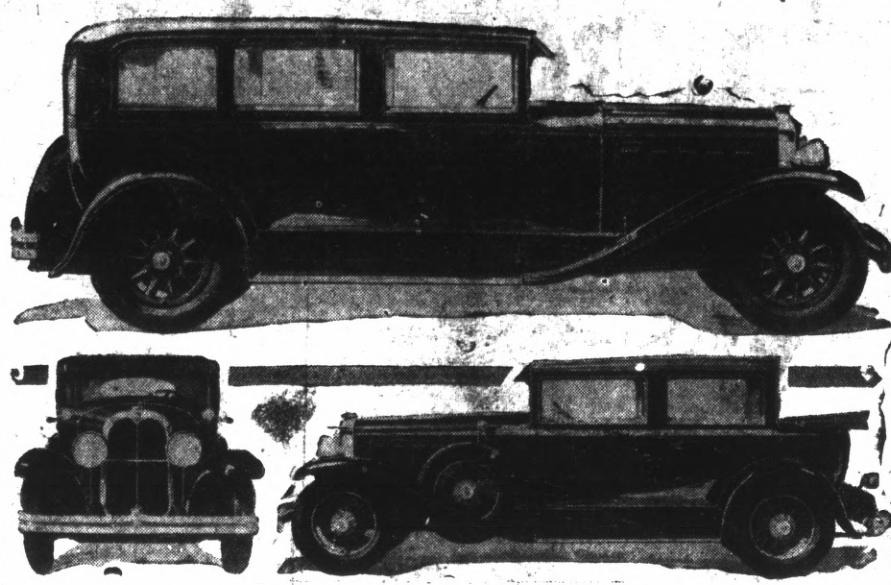

Increased braking power with a minimum of pedal pressure is achieved by new Oakland designed brakes, of the mechanical four wheel type, self energizing, with internal expanding shoes on an four wheels. Individual adjustments are located at each wheel, and equalization has been entirely eliminated. The brakes operate on large twelve inch drums and provide 230 square inches of braking surface. The parking brake on the transmission beam also has been redesigned for increased safety.

Spring Protection
Spring squeaks have been largely eliminated by the inclusion of fitted spring covers as standard equipment on all models. By the retention of spring grease, and the protection of springs from outside dirt and grit, the covers eliminate the necessity of oiling the leaves except at extremely long intervals.

Greater steering ease is achieved by an improved type steering gear incorporating the worm and half-nut principle. The new 18 inch steel wheel is of ebony finish with first spokes and a small wood rim with convenient finger grips. Horn button and the cap of the shift lever also are black to harmonize with the instrument board.

The frame has been strengthened for the increased ruggedness and safety. A heavy corrugated rear plate completely covers and protects the oval gas tank, which has been increased in size this year to 15 gallons.

PARIS TO HAVE UNDERGROUND STREETS

Paris, with its barricaded central districts and alley-like streets, is rapidly being swamped by traffic say reports received by the National Automobile club. Paris, say the reports, has been for some time making desperate efforts to solve the traffic problem. Any number of schemes have been suggested, some of them feasible, a great many of them impractical, and not a few of them downright wild.

But now comes a Parisian gentleman with an idea that is nothing if not wild, but which may prove in its wildness, its divergence from the age-old methods, a practical solution after all. While his proposal does not contain any familiar ideas, the magnitude of the plans is startling.

He would take the whole problem underground for its solution. He would have built at the rate of $2,000,000 a mile a ten mile tunnel. He, this Parisian, would put pedestrians, motor vehicles, and all other vehicles completely on of sight, off the streets.

For pedestrians there would be moving platforms, with scissor-like and there, from whence the pedestrians could emerge at a desired destination. Not only would there be moving platforms for pedestrians, but also for motor vehicles and another for transporting boxes and bundles between railroad terminals. The platforms would move along motorists would drive up runways to street level; packages would be rescued by those concerned.

Despite the huge expense entailed in such a scheme, it is considered possible, and by many, very practical Paris, say the reports, is desperate; something should be done.

Gravestones names her cars must have rejoiced to hear. We shall return again.

Ernie steeds must have champed ghostly bits as the Venezuela sailed into the setting sun. Wraith-like hoofs must have pawed impatiently the ground of the old Presidio in mingled protest and farewell. The Venezuela was bearing away a flesh and blood link with California's golden past, but in the hold with Senorita Teresita's name inscribed on a tag fastened to the steering wheel, was a mechanical steed of the new age, a Pontiac "Six" purchased by Senora Arguello for her daughter for use on their extensive coffee plantations in Nicaragua.

Pedestrians, Drivers Share Accident Blame

Recent studies of the cause of highway accidents show that of the total traffic fatalities in the United States last year, motorists and pedestrians shared about equal responsibility, according to the California State Automobile association.

Last year 11,765 deaths in highway accidents are charged to the carelessness or discourtesy of motorists, while 11,367 were the result of acts on the part of pedestrians. Some 3,428 persons lost their lives as a result of physical conditions affecting traffic.

But now comes a Parisian gentleman with an idea that is nothing if not wild, but which may prove in its wildness, its divergence from the age-old methods, a practical solution after all. While his proposal does not contain any familiar ideas, the magnitude of the plans is startling.

Beach Road Ties Brazil And Uruguay

An 80-mile stretch of beach forms a temporary link in the 1200-mile highway uniting Rio de Janeiro, capital of Brazil, and Montevideo, capital of Uruguay. This excellent stretch of highway of nature's own construction, must be used, however, only at low tide. Recent completion of construction in Brazil now makes possible an automobile trip of 1200 miles between the capitals of the two South American countries.

The only part of the 1200 miles for which roadway has not been provided is the 80-mile stretch off the coast of the state of Rio Grande do Sul where the beach at low tide is used.

Riding Clutch Is Bad Habit

Riding the clutch pedal with your foot is harmful to your car. The slightest pressure on the pedal causes the clutch to slip, resulting in wear on the plates and an eventual repair job.

Grease Car After Wash

Your car should be thoroughly greased after it has been washed, according to the California State Automobile association. Grease force water out of the shockers, king-pins and other parts of the chassis.

Wipe Parts Before Oiling Your Car

In greasing your car with the modern pressure gun, carry a piece of rag or waste and wipe all dirt from the grease nipple before applying pressure. This procedure will avoid forcing harmful dirt and gritty substances into the wearing parts.

Speed Meter To Test Gas

An instrument which can measure the speed of an engine 25 times a second has been evolved by the United States bureau of standards. The meter is intended to find out the degree to which low test gasoline will allow acceleration.

Taxicabs have almost driven the picturesque old Jarvey cars, with their trim ponies, off the streets of Dublin, Ireland.

GIANT TOWER TO CONTAIN GARAGE

A skyscraper garage is to be one of the features of the world's highest and largest structure, the Chicago Tower according to the National Automobile club. This tower, complete plans for which have been announced, will be 75 stories high, and will have a cubic content equal to that of a modern office building. Exceeding the Woolworth building, by 88 feet, will be 880 feet tall. It will cost $45,000,000.

The garage will be located high in the building, and cars will reach it by the most modern set of freight elevators ever constructed, according to the plans. Besides space for stores, offices and the garage, the tower will contain a 140-room hotel, exhibition halls, convention halls, quarters for two clubs, a gymnasium and a natatorium.

It is estimated that the normal daytime population of the tower will be 18,000 when it is fully occupied.

Wisconsin Bans Reflector Lights

Reflective signals as tail lights on trucks and tractors are not to be allowed in the state of Wisconsin, according to a report received by the National Automobile club. Recent decision are to the effect that the reflective signals may not be substituted for the red light regularly required by law.

CANYON MECCA FOR STATE DRIVERS

Painted Canyon, a wonder spot fantastically sculptured and tinted by Nature, lying east of Mecca in Riverside county, is well worth the time and attention of motorists, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club.

Approximately 153 miles distant from Los Angeles, it is reached via pavement to Mecca, thence over good gravel for two and one half miles where a fairly good desert road, leading northward, is followed for three and one half miles. It is not advisable to drive further into the colorful canyon, as the road becomes very sandy. Located within the walls of massive, fantastic mountains which rise to sheer heights, the rugged beauty of this canyon remained unrevealed for many ages. Scores of motorists who have seen the wild, beautiful gap in the mountains have described it as being "uncanny" due to the fact that the weird colors appear to have been manufactured and painted by hand.

The Mecca Hills rise very abruptly from the surrounding sage covered desert area, and are reminiscent of bizarre Arabian landscapes, while their bright red, pink, yellow, green and lending hues form a vivid natural phenomenon. For those who enjoy hiking, much time can be enjoyably spent in touring the nooks and crannies of the canyon. The canyon branches off into a maze of blind canyons and pockets and the vivid coloring continues—making one wish that cameras were not limited to black and white photography. If seen at night, the peculiarly granite walls appear to be covered with leaping flames, this being due to the presence of phosphorus.

A return route leading through the date groves of Coachella Valley, thence through Palm Springs and to Palm Canyon, offers much of interest, while various fine hotels and inns of the desert make possible comfortable overnight stops. On a trip of longer duration, one may continue over the inland route past the Salton Sea to the Imperial valley, El Centro, Mexicali, the interesting Mexican of Lower California, and returning via San Diego and the Coast.

Air Conditions Controlled In Making Tires

Millions of automobile tires turned out every year by American manufacturers are the product of an artificial climate treated by air conditioning experts employed by the big companies.

From the time the crude rubber is cut from the trees in far off tropics, through all the vagaries and difficulties of manufacture until the finished tire is finally mounted on the motor car, the air specialist has created almost the entire gamut of weather to refine the product, speed up output, cut costs and protect the lives and health of many thousands of workmen.

Introduction of ingenious mechanical facilities for controlling air in rubber plants, on the great new production beds in history and is bringing down costs to the lowest on record, according to engineers in the industry who are striving to develop a punctureless, super-tire, good for 40,000 to 50,000 miles.

With all rubber producing nations seeking trade pacts which are expected to stabilize the crude rubber market, combined with greater productive efficiency of American plants, such leaders in the industry as Flak, Firestone, Goodyear, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Miller, General and others are confident that they will benefit and share more than ever with the record-breaking prosperity of the automobile industry.

Five of the so-called "big six" American tire manufacturers already have their own factories in England and continental Europe, while several are rapidly developing new uses for rubber, such as flooring and rubber transmission and conveyor belting. American domination of the tire and rubber industry, however, is due chiefly to the nation's mechanical resourcefulness which gave to the world "mass production" the engineers declare.

Irish Speed Limit Low

The legal speed limit for passenger automobiles in Ireland is 20 miles an hour, according to the National Automobile club. Buses and trucks have special speed limits; some are allowed to travel 15 miles an hour and others 20, while some classes are limited to a 12-mile gait.

Gasoline Gauge Delicate Unit

A gasoline gauge on the instrument board is a handy thing, but it is delicate, according to Louis C. Shaw, general service manager of the National Automobile club. Many car owners are discovering this fact in the process of trying to correct inaccuracies in the recording feature of the device. In some of these gauges, and allow ance of one or two gallon reserve in the gasoline tank is made deliberately with the idea of protecting the car owner against running out of gas. It is an error that should not be corrected, of course, says Shaw.

Trick License Plates Invented

A new invention to make unauthorized driving easily detected and thus to frustrate automobile thieves has been introduced in London, according to information received by the National Automobile Club. The device consists of a movable license plate holder which can be securely locked so as to maintain the plate in a vertical position as the driver leaves the car, he locks the plate by means of the mechanism, and thus guards against the thief. Shifting the position of the plate is said to take only twenty seconds. The device is most effective against daylight robbery.

Signs Planned For State Road

Plans are now being developed by the Highway Commission to place electrically lighted signs on the approaches to the new double subway, which is located where the Orange county coast road joins the State highways below San Juan Capistrano, according to the National Automobile club. These signs are to be so placed that travel bound either for Los Angeles or San Diego will be amply informed as to the proper

Canada Market For U. S. Tractors

Importance of Canada as a market for tractors made in this country is indicated by the fact that farmers in the prairie provinces are becoming more and more partial to tractors for cultivating purposes, according to information received by the National Automobile Club. Tractors from the United States are used almost exclusively, especially in the localities where agriculture is conducted on a big scale.

Somebody You Know Who Knows

EVERY automobile owner knows that the practical value of his car depends upon the measure of local responsibility for its consistent good performance.

To get full value for your automobile dollar you must buy the car from somebody you know to be responsible and whose record justifies your confidence. To translate his specialized knowledge into terms of benefit to the car owner is as much a function of the car dealer as selling automobiles. At least that's the way we look at it here.

Studebaker's Pledge to the Public on Used Car Sales

We sell USED cars on the same basis as we sell NEW cars—ONE PRICE—THE SAME PRICE TO ALL—every car honestly represented and honestly priced. You can buy any one of our fine used cars—under the protection of the Studebaker Pledge—and know you have made an investment in a quality car that will last longer, give infinitely more satisfaction, riding comfort, and power than a new car of cheap construction and uncertain life. Measure used car value by the Studebaker Pledge.

No matter what make of used car you intend to buy you can not afford to purchase without first seeing our fine selection of open and closed models, painted in popular and striking color combinations, and backed by the Pledge that is your protection.

1—All used cars offered to the public shall be honestly represented. If a car is suitable only for a mechanic, who can rebuild it, or for some one who expects only a few months' rough usage on a camping trip, it must be sold on that basis. Each car must be sold for just what it is.

2—All Studebaker automobiles which are sold as CERTIFIED CARS have been properly reconditioned, and carry a 30-day guarantee for replacement of defective parts and free service on adjustments.

3—This is possible because tremendous reserve mileage has been built into every Studebaker, which it is impossible to exhaust in years.

4—Every used car is conspicuously marked with its price, in plain figures, and that price, just as the price of our new cars, is rigidly maintained.

The public can deal in confidence and safety only with the dealer whose policy is "one price only—the same price to all." For to sell cars on this basis, every one of them must be honestly priced to begin with.

5—Every purchaser of a used car may drive it for three days, and then if not satisfied for any reason, turn it back and apply the money paid as a credit on the purchase of any other car in stock—new or used.

It is assumed, of course, that the car has not been smashed up by collision or other accident in the meantime.

Not only to the public, but also to The Studebaker Corporation of America, whose cars we sell, we pledge adherence to the above policy in selling used cars.

Pictures of the underworld have an astonishing vogue these days. One of the latest and best underworld pictures produced to date is "The Cop," a DeMille studio production starring William Boyd, which will be shown at the California theater today.

It was directed by Donald Crisp with successful results. Jacqueline Logan plays opposite Boyd and other featured members of the supporting cast include Alan Hale and George Armstrong. Tom Kennedy also is in the cast.

The story of "The Cop" deals with the efforts of Smith, a young policeman in New York, to preserve order on his beat.

The story was written by Elliott Clawson and the screen version by Tay Garnett.

"Probation After Death" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon tomorrow in all Churches of Christ Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Easton, Mass.

The citations which comprise the lesson-sermon will include the following from the Bible: "Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin. Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." (Ps. 51:2, 10).

The lesson-sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The old man with his deeds dead, must be put off. Nothing sensual or sinful is immortal. The death of a false material sense and the birth of a true spiritual sense of matter, is what reveals man and Life, harmonious, real, and eternal. The so-called pleasures and pains of matter perish and they must go out under the blaze of Truth, spiritual sense, and the actuality of being." (p. 296).

S. F.-Sacramento Short Line Sale Wins Approval

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The purchase of the San Francisco-Sacramento Short Line railroad by the Sacramento Northern railroad, was authorized by the state railroad commission yesterday. The purchase price is said to be in excess of $1,500,000.

The Northern railroad is a subsidiary of the Western Pacific and will give the latter road a direct route into the bay district from the northern Sacramento valley.

Among the immediate results of the merger will be the operation of a through train daily between this city and Chico via Sacramento. The total mileage of about 300 is involved in the deal.

A Mohammedan converted to Christianity will be the speaker at Wesley Methodist church to-night. Matias Caudra of Stasul, Philippines, who is in the United States completing his high school education in American universities, was born a Moro. He was converted to Protestant Christianity some time ago. Caudra will wear his native costume in telling his stirring story. He has been in the United States only a few months and is attending the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley.

Mrs. Effie Mae Medlin, soprano, and Mrs. Arthur Striebel, contralto, 1335. Virginia street, Berkeley, a clerk in the local Krees store, is recovering from cuts on the head received when she was struck with a tire iron by an unknown assailant in Berkeley. Miss Royleton stated that the man had evidently followed her several blocks from the street car line as she was enroute Virginia street and State street, where he struck her with a tire iron.

She fell to the sidewalk, she stated and the man fled to an automobile parked nearby.

The theater-goers of Richmond are cordially invited to attend a house party today at the California theater that will end in a riot.

But it will be merely a riot of one hearty laugh after another when Nat Holt's Comedians present their breezy comedy "Oh Patsy," in which the action revolves around a pretty bit of lingerie.

among the best of the present day farces. The musical numbers will also be a big light of the week's production. Among them are "The Best Things in Life Are Free" sung by Bee Montague, "I Just Roll-Along," sung by Jimmie Edwards and a picture number "Just a Memory" rendered by Bobby Fitzsimmons. The Knight Sisters will also be heard in another of their enjoyable specialties.

Love under the tropic moonlight shadows of the money-hungry, white man—fantastic, ac-cency, far flung, gorgeous but terrible—a thrilling drama of a dying race.

These factors all contribute to make W. S. Van Dyke's production, "White Shadows in the South Seas," which comes to the California theaters tomorrow, a picture that is human, natural and different.

Van Dyke has taken an idea, namely that the white men, where-ever they find their way around the world, bring with them a shadow which results in disease, destruction and death for the simple savages. On this note but simple theme he has woven a screen drama, violent and terrible but tragically beautiful.

This story opens with Monte Blue as Dr. Lloyd, a beachcomber physician, salvaging the lives of native pearl divers on a South Sea island. These natives, urged by the white man's cupidity, drive to great depths in search of the elusive mussels and as a result are dying out rapidly from the tremendous pressure.

The photography has deservedly been declared the most beautiful in scenes of the South Seas ever filmed and due to Director W.
S. Van Dyke the story moves rapidly to a dramatic conclusion.

Other film features include Handy Andy comedy, Topics and Fables.

An attractive program of both the morning and evening services is planned at Grace Lutheran church today. At the morning service the pastor will deliver a reformation sermon. He will also deliver a report on the United Lutheran church convention held in St. Paul, Oct. 9 to 16.

The Life Service pageant will be presented at 7:30 o'clock. There will be 35 characters in the drama. The part of the prophet will be taken by Rev. S. T. Himes and Mrs. Charles A. Rayman will have the roll of the church. Special choir numbers will add to the service.

Miss Hoover plans to be gone several weeks.

 "THE SINGING FOOL," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

After not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrell, a loyal little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Henry, taking her husband Junior, as she calls for Frances Al. broken by the loss of his son, become a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrell. Molly obtains a Paris divorce from Al, but Perry rescues her. Junior is taken to his New York address as success as a revenue singer and plans to marry Grace. The couple arrive at the theatre one night happy, because of the news of Molly's divorce.

on the back. Then, quick as a wink, he snatched the chewed stub from the doorkeeper's mouth and replaced it with a four bit perfect. The oldtimer smiled delightedly and saluted as Al and Grace went on into the theatre.

A group of chorus girls, hoopers and singers, who went on early, were already standing near the wings, gossiping and laughing. They turned to greet Al and Grace.

Pretty soft for the little old big face comedian, strolling in here at show time, and doesn't

"Sofia is right," agreed Al. "You don't think I'd be in this venue if I had any hard work to do." The subterfuge was obvious. She and the others knew that Al was not the hardest worker in the show. He liked his arm familiarly in that of the little singer, pretending to glance appreciatively toward Grace.

"Let's step out tonight," you said. "He remarked, sotto voce, 'he's subterfuge.' 'Supper—uh—music—eh?' What do you say?"

Again he looked toward Grace, but she only stuck out her tongue at him, ever so slightly and refusing to become jealous.

"Sofia is right," the subterfuge had said. "I'm not the hardest worker in the show."

He was in good humor tonight, not only because he realized that he and Grace were soon to be married, but because he had at last found a girl who was like Blackie's. She had hung onto that job for hours at Blackie's like grim death, refusing to give it up until recently.

"I feel lost without it, Al," she said, and when he first broached the subject of her leaving, "Blackie, I feel loyal to Blackie. He's looked after me and protected me."

"Yes," said Al, "but you've been gone four years. That's long enough. Blackie will be glad to let you go, but he'll be good about it. I want you to have some rest."

So Al had his way; just today Grace had said good-bye to Blackie's and was off for her room in the nearby place lodging for the uptown to more palatial quarters.

As they headed through the back-narrow corridors a page hurried up to him.

"Ah, lady wants you on the phone," Al stoned.

"A lady," repeated Al. "What is this strange power I have over women?"

"Yes, this is Mr. Stone speaking. Who's this?"

Then Grace saw a pained, almost bitter expression pass across his features. His face went pale and he clapped his hand over the transmitter and turned to whisper:

"It's Molly."

A stab of pain shot through Grace. Had her fear that Molly would turn up to make trouble come true? At drew back from the phone as if he would hang

"Who?"

"She didn't say. Simply that, and hung up. I wonder if it's a trick of some kind?"

Grace's eyes narrowed; her heart was throbbing hard and fast. But she was too brave to say:

"You ought to be!"

"I suppose so. Yet every time Molly has come into my life it has meant misery."

"Yes, but," Grace paused. "Do you think, there's anything—the least—about her?"

The suggestion elicited an inaction. "I'll go! And you wait here, Grace. I'll be right back." He ran toward the stage door.

When Grace reached it he was already in the car and the motor was starting. She saw him shoot down the alley and out toward the lights of Broadway.

It was the theatre hour—two streets were loaded with traffic. It seemed to Alf that he would never be able to force his way through the mass of cars. He did wait a moment out of the theatrical section and then, speeding along a quieter street, then out the Avenue.

How did Molly happen to be in America so quickly after her disappearance? really? He called him was Junior, really? He did work in a store and was a queer person and a swarm of other queer things across Alf's mind. He sat at the wheel, with grim face and ached, tortured eyes. Sheer force of habit took him through the traffic and he reached—

He reached Junior as he had seen him last on that summer day

"But Grace was right. In a tiny room, with food, candles, and my superior, his eyes lit up. His face glowed and he was white as the sheets, except for a tiny crimson spot on each cheek. He roused himself, nervously, and whispered to Molly, who hovered over him:

"Is Daddy coming? I want my daddy!"

Molly had been standing by since the bedside, rigid with fear. She spoke his name over and quickly touched his tiny, thin fingers.

"Yes, darling. Daddy will be here soon. He's on his way. Just a few minutes and you'll see him."

Joan's turned away from her father's sight, and hid her face in the strain of his question, and when his last abbing strength. He days before, her as she gazed beseechingly up into his eyes. Her voice was aged by the terrible experience she had lived through during the war. Her words were: "Is there any hope?"

"I'm afraid not," said the doctor bluntly. "The thing has made too much progress—his lungs are almost entirely gone. He has no strength to fight the disease."

Molly turned away, sobbing convulsively. She didn't want to hear that if there was no hope. She turned and looked so well that her own aspect of Junior's condition, after she saw this tragic condition. After her's denunciation of her in France he had reclaimed her boy, but it was a little late. She had seen him in the hospital, but he was in the state of all the French soldiers. Finally in a panic she had raced to Cherbourg and taken that flier to America. When she had reached the hospital when she arrived in New Orleans, she was amazed. Not until the terrible fear faded that Junior was really dying did she call Al.

"I'm afraid not," the doctor winked to see if she was all right. She stepped to the curb and waved Al up and ran toward the car.

HOOVER, SMITH IN FINAL DRIVE

by voters in their precincts, to have watchers on hand throughout the voting day and to have friendly judges who will see that the other candidate does not get the best of the count.

Smith Drift

Some democrats believe Governor Smith has started a drift in his favor in the last few days. If so, some extremely close states might be affected. Most politicians, however, feel that so far as it is within the power of either candidate to affect the results, that effect was fairly well completed some time ago. Religion, prohibition and Tammany hall have moved the great bulk of voters in this campaign. Those and the effectiveness in producing the vote and counting it are the decisive forces in this election and the eleven-hour speeches cannot have more than a slight effect in the opinion of most judges.

Tremendous registrations everywhere have bewildered regular political managers in that they will have to deal with a larger uncertain group of voters. Regularly registered voters are well known to professional leaders in every precinct. This time each precinct captain will have scores in his jurisdiction perhaps, whose intentions he will not know.

SMITH ASSAILS FIREMEN HELP G. O. P. STAND ON TARIFF CAMPAIGN OF JOHNSTON

By PAUL E. MALLON

United Press Staff Correspondent
ARENA, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith announced in his speech here tonight that 80 percent of all democratic candidates for congress and members of congress had signed a "non-partisan tariff" pledge such as he outlined in his Louisville speech.

This extraordinary party poll was conducted by Smith personally, he said, to answer the republican contention that the election of a democratic administration would result in tampering with the nation's prosperity.

Although only 50 percent have replied thus far (many being absent from their homes on campaign work) every one authorized his signature, said Smith to the 250 word promise.

Non Partisan Attitude
The pledge affirms the allegiance of the party to a non-partisan tariff attitude and agrees that there should be no general tariff revision. Only such individual rates will be changed which cannot interfere with the American standard of living and level of wages.

"That puts an end to the effort of Charles E. Hughes and his republican colleagues to disturb the business of this country," declared the democratic attitude on the tariff," Smith said.

Assails Leaders
His speech assailed Hughes, Herbert Hoover, the republican candidate, and the leading republican campaigner, Senator Borah, on the issues of prohibition, tariff and republican economy. With characteristic vehemence he quoted the statements of the republican leaders, attempting to show evasions and discrepancies.

Slashing again at what he calls "the Coolidge economy myth," he promised if elected to reorganize the government on a business basis. He charged Secretary of the Treasury Mellon with leaving out postoffice department expenses in answering his previous charge that government expenditures have risen under the present regime.

Quotes Davis
He again quoted Secretary of War Davis to the effect that Army housing conditions almost amounted to a national scandal.

"Admiral Magruder had been 'put on the waiting list' by President Coolidge because of his charges of waste in the navy bureau," Magruder, who was removed as commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard following publication of this charges has "reiterated all of his charges of extravagance, failure to demobilize and excessive cost of maintenance," Smith said.

In summing up his arguments, the governor concluded by saying: "I believe that I have made out a case for a just statement on my part that the republican party is seeking to continue control of this country under false pretenses. It misstates and misrepresents the democratic attitude; and boasts of accomplishments that in fact never took place."

"To bring the government into harmony with modern progress and efficiency it will be necessary to restore the democratic party to power, and tonight in Philadelphia, I confidently assert that will be the decision of the American people on election day."

It was the first time the governor had expressed such confidence.

GRASS FIRE

The El Cerrito Volunteer fire department yesterday afternoon extinguished a grass fire on the property of the Berkeley country club. Several acres were burned over and shrubbery scorched before the blaze was brought under control.

A group of Eastbay firemen members of the Health club returned from a visit to the Mokelumne water project which was taken under the guidance of E. L. Vander Naillen, one of the organizers of the Health club and one of the leading Eastbay civic workers, favoring the election of Henry A. Johnston of Richmond for director of the Eastbay Municipal Utility district.

Vander Naillen told the firemen the purposes of Johnston's candidacy and urged the firemen to give him their support at the election November 6.

In the group were O. H. Holts of Oakland, president; E. Kipke, Oakland; G. A. Allen, Piedmont; E. B. French, Oakland; J. W. Donovan, Oakland; B. J. Rose, chief of Emeryville department and Earl Corry of El Cerrito.

The group visited the Lancha Plana dam and made a complete investigation of the project there. On the way back they inspected the pipeline, tunnels and other structures which will be used to bring Mokelumne water here in the spring of 1930.

Upon his return Vander Naillen declared that Johnston seems to be gaining ground in all parts of Eastbay cities with which he is familiar. Vander Naillen has taken an active part in the campaign by working with various civic organizations where he said there is a growing feeling that a man of Johnston's type is needed on the board to replace the incumbent, James E. Boyer.

Numerous meetings for Johnston will be held throughout the Eastbay cities during the remaining days of the campaign. One of the largest gatherings in prospect is the dinner to be given by the Richmond group at the Hotel Carquinez in a few days before election. Arrangements for this are in the hands of E. B. Bull, chairman of the Richmond committee.

Dr. George C. Paydee, president of the Utility district, yesterday reiterated his position and urged all his friends to cast their votes for Johnston on the ground that this candidate is needed to help work out in a constructive manner the future problems facing the Utility board.
